

JEWISH FUNDS FOR JUSTICE

CEO & President:

Simon Greer

Board of Directors:

Amy B. Dean, Co-Chair

Steven S. Fischman, Co-Chair

Lawrence N. Bailis

Mark Bernstein

Melissa Cordish

Steve Fahrer

Janice Fine

Rabbi David Gedzelman

Dan Gross

Si Kahn

Henry Kaminer

Donna Katzin

Stephanie Klasky-Gamer

Rabbi Stephanie Kolin

Michael J. Kuhn

Jerry Levine

John Levy

Emma Mayerson

Judith Obermayer

Lizzy Ratner

Rebecca Richards

Ann Rosewater

Rabbi David Saperstein

David Schimmel

Sarah Aroeste Silverman

Daniel Sokatch

Rabbi Felicia Sol

Marion L. Usher

Alyssa Zeller

Dear Friends,

June 10, 2010

You may or may not be aware of Glenn Beck's recent attacks against faith-based activists for justice. And, in particular, you may not know that Jewish Funds for Justice (JFSJ), a member of the Interfaith Center on Corporate Responsibility, fought back against Beck and is now being attacked by him. I'm asking you to take action in support of JFSJ by visiting the website indicated below and endorsing where it says sign the pledge.

You'll find the full story of the ensuing debate including recordings of Beck's outrageous broadcasts on our website www.jewishjustice.org, but I've included some highlights below to bring you up to speed:

- Beck tells people to leave houses of worship that promote social justice.
- JFSJ launches Haik U Glenn Beck, an innovative website for us to respond to Beck's comments and defend social justice – and have a little fun.
- JFSJ's president, Simon Greer, writes a Washington Post column "Government Is Essential to Quest for Social Justice."
- Beck reads Simon Greer's op-ed on air and attacks JFSJ for promoting "death camps," adding that "a Jew, of all people, should know that."
- The American Jewish Committee steps in.
- The media covers story, including Keith Olbermann and ThinkProgress.
- Simon Greer responds to Beck's attack on AlterNet and the Washington Post.
- You can stand for the common good (this link works!) by adding your name to JFSJ's online pledge.

Fox is a very powerful adversary. To make sure that our voices aren't drowned out by the voices of Beck and his Tea Party we need your urgent support!

Please sign the pledge, and share this letter with your networks. Read more about JFSJ and its alternatives to Glenn Beck and the Tea Party here.

Thank You and Shalom,

Jeffrey Dekro

President of Isaiah Funds & Tzedec Economic Development Funds
Jewish Funds for Justice

New York
330 7th Avenue, 19th Floor
New York, NY 10001
phone: (212) 213 2113
fax: (212) 213 2233

website: jewishjustice.org blog: jspot.org