The shareholder asks all shareholders to vote by following the procedural instructions provided in the proxy materials.

The Chair of the Prologis, Inc. (PLD) Governance Committee, Lydia Kennard, deserves an against vote

Ms. Lydia Kennard is ultimately responsible for PLD shareholders not having the ability to vote on an independent Board Chairman structure at PLD.

PLD could be named to a 2026 Hall of Shame list of companies taking blatant advantage of a new Securities and Exchange policy. PLD took advantage of the new Securities and Exchange policy of giving free ride letters in as fast as 2-days to any company that submits a one-sentence excuse for not including a shareholder proposal in its 2026 annual meeting proxy.

Shareholders at 100s of companies have voted on the independent Board Charisma topic for decades. Preventing PLD shareholders from voting on this topic is all the worse at PLD because PLD brags about its Shareholder Outreach in its 2026 annual meeting proxy.

Does PLD claim to have a split personality by purportedly championing shareholder outreach and then staunchly opposing PLD shareholder voting opportunities on well established corporate governance topics sponsored by its shareholders?

Such PLD resistance to PLD shareholder input could be a sign that Ms. Kennard's oversight is suffering from being over tenured at PLD with her 22 years on the PLD Board. Long tenured directors are criticized for evolving over the years to identify more with the interests of management and less with the interests of shareholders.

At age 71 Ms. Kennard seems to have too much on her plate. Ms. Kennard is CEO, President or Principal in 3 companies and is also director at Freeport-McMoRan and Vulcan Materials Company.
